

FULL MOON TAROT

April Full Moon in Scorpio

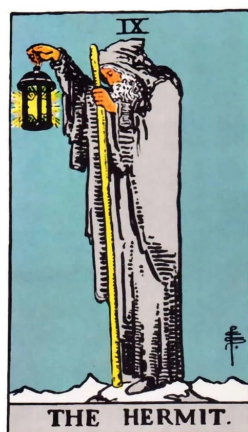

MIND - EMOTIONS

Knight of Swords

With this full moon the outside world can feel quite chaotic, and it being in the watery sign of Scorpio this will deeply effect our emotions. It's almost like a push and pull due to the death and rebirth energy in this sign. This signifies and ending to make room for a new beginning both of which have their challenges and will impact our feelings and emotions.

This card is a knight going into battle with no plan. However with this feminine full moon we are invited not to get swept up into all the chaos and act impulsively. Instead we are being asked to own and take responsibility for our emotions. The full moon is illuminating what triggers these challenging emotions and where fear is holding us back. when we understand these triggers we can develop ways of being in flow and connected to tap into this amazing transformational energy.

BODY - BEING

The Hermit

This card talks to the watery Scorpio we are feeling in the depths of our being at this time.

Just like the light of the full moon the Hermit holds a lantern that guides his way. Trust yourself and your guiding light as we go through deep emotional shifts we can often feel show up in our physical body. There is a sense of shedding, detoxing and purging of what doesn't serve us now.

This can be very uncomfortable and there will be an urge to push through it and keep getting on with the day.

However the Hermit card reminds us to listen to our body, and take pause. Take the time to rest and perhaps take a bath or swim to really embody the watery energy and nurture your body. This will support you with this powerful potential available to you now.

SPIRIT - SOUL

Nine of Wands

This card shows a wounded man that has been through conflict. This full moon energy may bring up conflict in your life with people of things that are not aligned with your soul's higher purpose. We are also being forced to meet with our deepest wounds and darkest truths. The light of the moon will shine a light on these subconscious depths helping us to turn the dark into light. Now is a time of great for healing and process work. Wands are a sign of magic, so find the magic in facing your challenges - this full moon won't let you ignore anything that has been bubbling away under the surface. But the rewards will be a powerful deeper wisdom and greater connection with the opportunity of expansion into alignment to your greatest souls truth.
